NOTES ON NEW DEFINITIVE SERIES

PART - I

One of the neglected areas of modern Indian philately is the study of definitive stamps. After a gap of over 15 years, India Post introduced a new definitive series in 2000. This is the 8th definitive series since independence and is devoted to the Natural Heritage of India. The series was launched with the issue of two stamps on April 30, 2000 in the denominations of Rs. 5 and Rs. 10. In this series the size of the Rs. 5 definitive stamp has been reduced to accommodate 70 stamps to a sheet. The Rs.10 stamp is issued in sheets of 50.

The stamps are printed by photogravure process on multiple Ashoka Capital watermarked paper by India Security Press, Nashik Road. The normal position for watermark is upright. Two types of gum, Yellow and bluish white, are noted. The printed sheet contains four panes that are cut after printing to make issued sheets. The printed sheet also carries a serial number, date, month & year, and a horizontal or vertical band of 4 bars in various shades of a color. The marginal inscriptions on sheet contain the name of the press in Hindi & English and the cylinder number in one line. Every denomination is assigned a letter that precedes the cylinder number.

The Rs. 5 definitive postage stamp depicts the Leopard Cat, vertical design in two colors, yellow and brown. "G" is the letter assigned for this denomination. The marginal inscription is "I.S.P. NASHIK-ROAD G1", in capital letters and has been seen on both, the left and right side of the sheet. This has also been seen with the cylinder number G2 on both, the left and right side of the sheet. A sheet with inscriptions on left carries the serial number 043333 on the top left corner. A sheet with inscriptions on right carries the date 13.XI.00 just on top of the Hindi inscription.

For some reason the letter assigned to this denomination was changed from "G" to "M". The first cylinder number seen with the "M" is 4. This has also been seen on both, the left and right side of the sheet. Perhaps the numbering of cylinder is continued in serial from "G". The name of the press in English is not in capital letters. The M4 on the right side of sheets has been seen with serial number 375117 and with the dates 20.XI.00 and 23.XI.00. The M5 on the left side has been noted. A horizontal band of 4 bars of shades of brown color at top right corner is seen on one of the sheets. One sheet was seen with a big margin on the right side and a single line of perforation of the next sheet.

The Rs.10 stamp depicts the Tiger - Sundarbans Biosphere Reserve, horizontally printed in two colors, green and orange-brown. "N" is the letter assigned for this denomination. The marginal inscription "I.S.P. NASHIK-ROAD N1 " is all in caps on the left side of the sheet. The printers color registration mark, a sign of plus, is seen on sheets printed with N1 at the top as well as at the bottom. The N1 on the left side has also been seen with blind perforations on the complete row of 10 vertical stamps on the left. The cylinder number N2 was seen on the left side with a serial number 211153. The next cylinder number noted is the N5 appearing on the left side. It has been seen with only the top half of the inscription letters printed. Sheet with N5 is also seen with normal inscription on left side and the date 26.VI.00 just below the English letters. A vertical band of 4 bars of shades of green color is noted on the left side before the Hindi inscription. The printer's color registration mark is on the top.

Part II, in the next issue, will cover the 25p, 50p, Re. 1 & Rs. 3 values. Readers having more information on marginal inscriptions and cylinder numbers of any denomination are requested to contribute.

COMPETITION 2001, ANNUAL PHILATELIC INTERNET SITE EVALUATION

Since 1999, the International Philatelic Federation (FIP) provides an annual evaluation of philatelic Internet sites, as a continuation of its program to encourage and promote all forms of philatelic literature. The evaluation specifically recognizes those sites which, in the opinion of the evaluating panel, are especially deserving in terms of content, philatelic significance and production. In addition, it provides short critiques for all participating sites, with helpful suggestions for possible improvement.

The evaluation includes the following classes of entries:

1. Open class, consisting of sites maintained by individuals, groups, philatelic societies, philatelic libraries or similar organizations who are members or affiliates of an FIP National Federation;
2. Official class, consisting of sites maintained by postal administrations which are members of the UPU.

Procedures

1. Participants must apply for evaluation using the FIP application form, which may be obtained on-line from this site, or through e-mail at franciskiddle@talk21.com. Applications may be submitted electronically or by mail to the address specified on the application form. Closing date for applications for the 2001 evaluations is July 1, 2001.

2. A copy of the application form, together with an administrative fee of U.S. $25 or equivalent, must be submitted to the appropriate national FIP member federation. Upon determination that the applicant meets the necessary membership/affiliation qualification, the FIP evaluation panel will inform the applicant of the site's acceptance for evaluation.

3. Sites will be evaluated live, not from hard copies or diskettes. To provide equal opportunity of available technology and to allow applicants to schedule upgrades and site maintenance, all sites will be accessed, reviewed and downloaded on the same date, as designated on the application form and/or confirmation notice. In the event of uncontrollable circumstances which may affect availability or functioning of a site on the specified date, it is the responsibility of the applicant to promptly notify the FIP evaluation panel to allow for possible revisit of the site or refund of the application fee.

4. Panel members will individually review each site, then reach a consensus evaluation. Those sites considered by the panel as especially deserving will be recognized as FIP's Top 5%, Three Star and Two Star Sites of the year, and will be authorized to display the specially designed FIP logos on their sites acknowledging the distinction. As warranted, special prizes may also be awarded, including a nominated "Best Philatelic Site of the Year". All participants will receive individual critiques reflecting the panel's findings, to include comments on specific strengths and suggestions for possible improvement. Results will be announced at a selected FIP world exhibition; for 2001, the announcement will be made at the HAFNIA 01 world philatelic exhibition being held from October 16 to 21, 2001 in Copenhagen, Denmark.

5. Questions and comments on the evaluation program and the procedures should be sent to: Francis Kiddle, e-mail: franciskiddle@talk21.com ; mail: Punch Tree House, Reading Road North, FLEET, Hants GU13 8HS, Great Britain, fax: (44)1252.810766, phone (44)1252.613881.
