JHINGANS JOTTINGS

Hi

We take this opportunity to thank all those who have sent us greetings on Holi that was on March 21, 2008 and we know that our friends and well wishers will forgive our not been able to respond individually.

This year March 21 was indeed very very special day as it had a bouquet of festivals, Holi - the Indian Festival of Colors, Good Friday, the Birthday of Prophet Mohamed and Parsi New Year Navroze. Unbelievable but true.

As it is March 21 is special every year because it happens to be the Vernal Equinox when night and day were of equal durations. It is also the first full day of the sign of Aries, the traditional first day of the astrological year and International Astrology Day. While United Nations observes it as International Day for the Elimination of Racial Discrimination, the UNESCO observes it as World Poetry Day. It is also observed as World Down Syndrome Day since 2006.

By the way Indian cine star Rani Mukherjee was also born on this day.

We think 'March 21' is a befitting topic for a one frame exhibit! What do you think? Do let us have your views.

Until next week, please enjoy the rest of the newsletter.

GANDHI FDC CROSSES RS 100,000 AT AUCTION

A private first day cover of 1948 Mahatma Gandhi issue sold for a record US$ 2717 that is Rs 109,000, at ebay.com on March 23, 2008. It was won by an Indian bidder. The cover by cachet-maker Advani is commonly referred to as mourning cover being printed in black. There were 6 bidders competing for it. The cover was registered from Bombay GPO and addressed to Tanganyika with delivery markings on the back. The unusual destination contributed in achieving the record price.

READERS FORUM

<Dear Reader, Your feedback is important to us as it helps evolve the newsletter. Please send us have your thoughts and suggestions.>

M S NARAYANAN, Chennai

I would like to share my bitter experience with Philatelic Bureau, Chennai. I have a PDA Account with them. But they have not been giving good service. For each and every despatch I had to approach some consumer group for help.

When I read about the poor show at the exhibitions, I feel that Philately in India is in very low profile.

Please do something about this.

JEEVAN JYOTI, Shimla

In response to the letters of the participants of Inpex 2008 published in previous issues of this newsletter one can easily conclude that the participants are too close observers and have sound philatelic knowledge. Their views cannot be ignored at any cost. Winning a gold in exhibitions does not mean that the person is an authority in philately. It is their tag that has given them the position of jury.

In my opinion there should also be a panel of general philatelists who give points to exhibits secretly and on the basis of average marks given by jury and the panel of general philatelists the final result should be declared. The general philatelists too should have the right of voting in certain classes like one frame or thematics in which large number of entries are sent by the exhibitors. At least 30% marks should be in hands of general philatelists. This may be a solution to give satisfactory result at the exhibitions to some extent.

Mr. Rajesh Verma should have elaborated the "Flag and Map mentality of the jury members" as some readers might have not understood the meaning of this line. But those participating in exhibitions since a long time have well understood its meaning and sense and must have enjoyed the content.

Now after reading lot of comments I have come to the conclusion that we should find the way out of this existing situation at all level of exhibitions. There is a big need of some senior as well as young philatelists and the philatelic societies to come forward in this regard and join hands with each other and send representation through proper channel to the Philately Section of India Post against the irregularity prevailing at the exhibitions. India Post is the highest authority responsible for holding and managing exhibitions. So it is necessary that the real facts must come to the notice of concerned officers of Philately section. Mere discussion on the problem is not a way out to curb the present situation of philately in India.

It's also a fact that officers concerned of philatelic section of India Post are not philatelists, they are simply administrators. Many of them are ignorant about the basics of philately. The detailed report must be sent to them for clear understanding about the exhibitions. After all we the philatelists make the Postal Department to earn a big amount of money through purchase and publicity of philatelic items. We must send our representation to it for the betterment of Indian Philately.
